Oslo, Norway, March 6 (AP)—The Nobel Committee, announced today that 27 individuals, including five Americans, have been nominated for the 1952 Nobel Peace Prize.

The Americans: Frank Buchman, noted for his work with the Oxford Group and moral rearmament; Edwin Cockrell, Warrenburg, Mo., noted for his work in Washington, D. C.; Raphael Lem-kin, Yale University, an authority on international law, and the man who coined the word genocide for race murder; James Sholwell, his forian and former president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and Clarence Streit, advocate of American Union with Great Britain.

Winner of the prize last year was Leon Jouhaux, the anti-Communist French Labor leader.

Others nominated included two prominent Canadians: Lester B. Pearson, external foreign affairs minister and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

41r Benegal N. Rau, the Indian diplomat, and President Miguel Aleman Valdes of Mexico, were among others who will be considered for the award, usually made in the fall.

Still others whose names were sent to the special committee of the Norwegian Parliament for consideration are Carlos P. Romulo, now the Philippine ambassador to the United States; and Prof. Albert Schweitzer, the Alsatian medical philosopher famed for his mission-

Plane Lands in Flames, Crew Unhurt

Fort Worth, Tex., March 6 (AP)—A giant, 10-engine (B-36) intercontinental bomber burst in flames after landing here early today.

All 14 crewmen aboard escaped without injury. One firefighter, however, suffered burns.

Piloted by aircraft commander Frederick Buchmann Jr., the plane had returned from a routine training flight that began yesterday. It was on the landing roll when the left side blazed.

As many as half a million men, hidden, a species of fish, have been trapped in a single catch.

any work in Africa.

The award, worth 171,134, Swedish kroner ($33,000), will be presented in Oslo on Dec. 10, birthday of Dr. Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite, whose will provided the money for the award.

Arkansas GI Acquitted of Rape Charge

Montgomery, Ala., March 6 (AP)—A husky Camp Rucker, Ala., soldier was free today after a circuit court jury acquitted him of charges that he raped a woman old enough to be his grandmother.

Sgt. George F. Hill, 21, of Stuttgart, Ark., smiled broadly when the jury announced its verdict just a few minutes before last midnight. The jurors deliberated nearly five hours.

Hill, testifying in his own defense, insisted he did not strike the 63-year-old woman or force his attentions on her.

But the woman, whose name is Easton, Pa., testified the soldier struck her twice as she attempted to get out of a taxicab and that she "blackened out" and didn't remember anything for several hours. She said she came here to visit a son stationed at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base.

"I did not rape Mrs. . . .," testified Sgt. Hill. "I did not use force or strike her."

Hill admitted, however, that he had been drinking heavily and was "drunk" when he left the Montgomery VFW Club shortly before the incident.

The woman told the court she too, had "four or five" drinks of whiskey with Sgt. Hill and others, including her son and his girlfriend, in the VFW club.

Hill followed her when she left the club and got into a taxi with her.

The taxi driver testified Hill tried to make love to her in the cab and that she pulled away from him. He said the Camp Rucker sergeant wouldn't let her get out of the taxi when it arrived at her destination.

Another witness, an Air Force sergeant who lived near the scene of the alleged rape, said he heard the woman scream for help and Hill tell her to be quiet.

Two doctors from Maxwell Air Base who treated the woman said she gave them conflicting accounts of what happened. This the woman denied.

Lost Boy Is Found Unhurt

Hot Springs, March 6 (AP)—A 5-year-old boy who wandered alone all day on west mountain near here was found unhurt.

Clayton Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kemp who live at the base of the mountain adjoining Hot Springs, left his home about 9:30 a. m. yesterday and spent the day on the mountain. His only company was his pet dog and two of his father's bird dogs.

The child was found about 7:30 p. m. by City Detective Ernest Dodd, one of about 600 searchers who combed the mountain through out the day for the boy.

Clayton was unhurt, but he was tired and hungry. Dodd said he found the boy sitting calmly on a rock with the dogs lying beside him.

Customers' Corner

We take off our hat to Mother!

Maybe it's true that it's Dad who pays, but from experience we can assure him his money is in good hands when Mother buys the groceries.

For Mother, without doubt, is America's greatest purchasing agent. She knows what she likes and wants. And at A&P we make it our business to see she gets it.

If she doesn't, we'd like to know about it—and the reason why. Hoorah for Mother!—and Dad, too.

DOROTHY DIX

Belittling In-Laws

Dear Miss Dix: My marriage of eight months is a very happy one, with one exception. My husband had been married before; he was a widower for fourteen years when we married. He is wonderful to me and I couldn't ask for a better husband, but his people are always bringing up the subject of his former wife, with, naturally, comparisons detrimental to me. I don't expect them to forget the dead but I don't see how I can make a success of my marriage if I am constantly reminded what a wonderful sweet girl she was. They seem to be trying to impress me with the fact that I do not qualify as an in-law.

WINIFRED F

Answer: Fourteen years is a long time to remember someone—especially an in-law—with such minuteness that she is constantly used as a basis of comparison. I will wager that when she was alive her sweetness and charm were not so freely discussed by the in-laws. Your husband's family strike me as being a spiteful, malicious lot. Intent on making trouble wherever it can be made. They probably resent you for taking their son and brother (and also, undoubtedly, his cash assets) away from the rest of the family. After keeping him a widower for fourteen years they figured they had exclusive rights to his time, money and attention for the rest of his life.

Husband Should Act

Your husband should have sense enough to see that these comparisons are unpleasant for you, and ask his relatives to stop them. It may take a word from you to make him see what should be an obvious fact, but men can be very dense at times.

If your husband won't take steps to stop the annoyance, there are several ways you can handle the problem, depending upon the type people your in-laws are. When the subject of your predecessor comes up, (1) let them talk on and on, listen pleasantly with an occasional noncommittal eye or nay; (2) change the subject as casually as possible; (3) state definitely that you prefer to discuss something else or (4) observe demurely that you are indeed trying to live up to the high standards set by wife number one.

Patmos; Miss Janet Richards, Hope.

Discharged—Joe Hollis Jr., Patmos.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elledge announce the arrival of a daughter on March 5, 1932.

You may be sure that no matter how perfect you are, or become, approval will never be forthcoming from these relatives. Their pleasure is in criticizing and belittling; approval is not in them. Try to arrange your life, and that of your husband, to leave a minimum of time for in-law visits. Don't be resentful of their actions; just realize their attitude for what it is—a small conception of life that shuts out all the beauty of pleasant human relationships.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 20 years old and fairly attractive. People seem to like me but I seldom have a date. I'm settled for my age and would like to get married but I don't think any of the boys I know are interested in marrying me. Do you think there is still something lacking in me or do you think eventually I will find a mate?

Answer: You are still so young, Janie, that there's no cause for pessimism over your seeming lack of matrimonial prospects. The boys you know are probably very young, too, and are as yet in no position to marry. Just continue to be your own secret self, don't act over-anxious and you'll hear wedding bells yet. If you don't know many boys, why not take on some activities where you may meet them? Bowling, skating and tennis are all good sports conducive to forming boy-girl friendships.

Dear Miss Dix: For three years I have gone with a girl and was sure I loved her. I know she loves me. Recently I was more or less forced into a blind date with another girl. She swept me off my feet, and though I know the first girl would be a better wife, I can't forget the second one. What can I do?

THOMAS

Answer: The second girl has brought on a heavy case of infatuation with you, and your best course is to forget her. How you can accomplish this is up to you. But your future happiness lies, beyond doubt, with the first girl, whom you still love and who is the finer person. Don't settle for second best when you have the genuine article within reach.

Retail Prices Take Dip on Some Items

By the Associated Press
 Fast-falling butter prices look the food news spotlight this week. Since last Thursday, butter has dropped 8 to as much as 12 cents a pound in the big-volume retail stores of many cities, reflecting the sharpest reduction in years at the wholesale level. Declines were smaller in the Far West and in the South.

Reductions were attributed largely to consumer price resistance. Butter was a four year high in many sections at the peak last week, selling at around 97 cents a pound in major chains and independent stores and well over $1 in other stores.

But there also were other factors. High butter prices attracted more fluid milk into butter channels and production increased. Output for the nation last week was up nine per cent from the previous week, although it still lagged behind the year-ago level. The bigger production trend should continue seasonally now with milk output rising.

Also, movement of butter into storage was virtually at a standstill, butter men said, because nobody was inclined to lay in stocks with prices at their peak.

Prices of other important foods showed little overall change at retail this week. A few moderately sharp declines in beef cuts, particularly roasts, were scattered to indicate a trend and were attributed to temporary over-supply conditions in a handful of markets.

Egg prices were a little firmer at wholesale as military buying increased and more eggs moved into storage, but retail prices were mostly steady.

On the fresh produce counters, lettuce, onions, carrots, strawberries and tangerines were a little higher while fresh corn, celery and radishes eased slightly on heavier supplies.

MAKE-UP WON'T HIDE CALENDAR LOOK
 But this scientific way may avoid showing monthly "nerves". All the make-up in the world can't take that drawn, nervous look out of your eyes each month. But here's a modern way that has helped many women and girls who suffer from calendar misery, nervousness and so on. It's Cardui, a tested medicine that helps build strength and resistance each month—so, after a time, many women feel no monthly cramps at all. Also helps relieve heavy periods, sleep better, look better, feel better, bring out your loveliness. Look for Cardui (the "card-gedee") in your dealer's store.

Mother, Son Die in Explosion

By The Associated Press
An explosion in a Benton, Ark., home has claimed the lives of a young mother and her 18-month-old son.

perished when the blast damaged her home Wednesday. Her son, Danny, died Wednesday night in a Little Rock hospital.
The explosion set off a fire that gutted the interior of the George home. Volunteers who dragged Mrs. George and Danny from the house said they found a 3 gallon kerosene can with its bottom blown

Congress Has Special Deep Freeze

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 6 (AP) — You can always kill a chicken without leaving telltale feathers around, by shooting it into a cooler till it freezes to death.

Congress has a special deep freeze of its own on hand when it wants to avoid an embarrassing situation, like a showdown vote on UMT.

It simply sends the bill back to a committee for further study even though that same committee already had knocked itself out studying the bill.

That's what the House did this week with a bill on universal military training. And, as usual, rigor mortis was detected immediately.

The subject of UMT is, and has been, a hot potato. President Truman, Gen. Eisenhower and the veterans and service organizations all favored it.

Against it were the AFL, CIO, farm groups, some educators, spokesmen for several churches and a lot of parents. Particularly, a lot of parents.

So the House Armed Services Committee knew it was walking on eggs when early this year it began hearings on a UMT bill.

It held hearings 19 days and listened to 70 witnesses, for and against. It prodded, probed, and looked under the bed.

Finally, by a vote of 27 to 7, the committee members decided we should go ahead with UMT and drew up a bill to do just that.

This bill would have permitted the government to start a small experimental UMT program next fall, taking 18-year-olds for six months training. Then the committee sent the bill to the House for a vote. This certainly would be embarrassing.

By coincidence the UMT program would start next fall, just about the time members of Congress were up for re-election.

And a great many parents, who are also voters, had written a great many letters against UMT to their congressmen.

In fact, all those who opposed UMT would be watching the final vote. The House bravely picked up the bill and marched up the hill with it.

Just before it reached the crest—the time or a vote—the House marched down the hill just as swiftly.

Speaker Sam Rayburn made a special plea: "Do we not have the fortitude — do we not have the courage — to meet this issue to day?"

Apparently the House didn't because it then voted to send the bill back to the committee, thus avoiding the final telltale vote.

And there the bill now lies. It's expected to lie there, unacted upon, for the rest of the session.

Now a congressman who voted to send the bill back to committee can have a ready answer for any friend of UMT who interrupts a campaign speech back home with a question like this: "Why did you vote to send the bill back when that in effect kills it?"

The congressman can say he didn't vote against UMT but merely thought the bill needed further study before a final vote. And no one who's against UMT can be angry at a congressman who voted to return it to the committee.

QUIRINO SPEAKS

Manila, March 6 (AP) — President Elpidio Quirino said today the Communist movement is gaining momentum in Southeast Asia so fast The Philippines are "practically facing invasion". In a speech, he called on the U. S. and other Western powers to form a Pacific defense pact "before it is too late."

School Improvement Discussed by PTA

Little Rock, March 6 (AP) — A survey of Arkansas schools with a view toward improving facilities is going to start clear of politics.

That's what Mrs. Field A. Poe of Paragould, Ark., president of the Arkansas Congress of Parents-Teachers, said yesterday in outlining the proposed survey to representatives of various state parents-teachers associations.

Mrs. Poe said the survey is needed to find out what the schools have to determine "what we want in education, and determine what Must be done to get the signal program desired. Mrs. Poe stressed that would have no part in the survey. She said that the most important thing that Arkansas has today is the establishment of an adequate educational system.

He added that the solution not be on a political platform, but must be accomplished by people working together on common goals.

Harry S. Ashmore, executive director of the Arkansas Gazette, said the P-T-A group, that any of the schools would improve the question of finances.

Youth Admits Strangling Girl Aged 12

Hot Springs, N. Y., March 6 (UP)—A 12-year-old girl, because of her own admission, today was sentenced to a term of years in the state prison for the murder of a 12-year-old girl.

Hot Springs County District Attorney Henry R. Henry said Harold Liddell, 13, confessed yesterday to the murder of a 12-year-old girl, named Lydia Kitchner, last Nov. 19. The girl was found dead in a field near the home of her parents, who had been told by the girl's father that she had been kidnapped.

from that he had committed the "perfect crime." Harold's mother, Mrs. Mae Lortson, came to town last night to comfort the youth as he was arraigned on a murder charge and ordered held without bail for the grand jury.

Henry said young Lortson first admitted he killed Lydia as they walked home from school, then denied it. Later he dictated another confession.

"I think from the evidence he has given us he has committed murder," Henry said. A postman found Lydia's body in a wooden section of this Long Island community while hunting. She had been strangled with her own scarf but although her clothing was disarranged, had not been raped.

Police believed an adult sex maniac had slain the child until Tuesday when Harold ran out of a store after facing a school teacher who had told police the last time she saw Lydia alive the girl was walking with a blond young man.

Harold, who is blond, weighs 92 pounds and is five feet, two inches tall, was arrested yesterday on his way to school, where he was known as a "bright" student. When Mrs. Louis Kitchner, of nearby Hauppauge road, was told last night that a suspect in the murder of her daughter had been arrested, she said she had prayed constantly that the killer would be found.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

IT WAS the strident quality of the voice that persuaded Liddell that he was still alive. Each time the speaker emphasized a point, it drove red hot through his skull. He had difficulty remembering where he was, or what had happened, but Lita began to come back to him.

He tried to move his arms, found them bound behind his back. His legs had been similarly treated. From the stiffness of his quarters, he guessed that he had been dumped into a closet someplace.

Outside, the strident tones continued to pierce the thin closet wall and send sparks of pain to the back of Liddell's eyes. He was aware that one of the voices had a familiar tone, but it took moments of stumped concentration before he knew why it sounded familiar. It was the nasal, flat voice of Goldy, the woman he had come seeking. He strained his ears to hear what she was saying.

"I tell you with Hunt dead we've got to handle this ourselves, Ben," she insisted. "We've got to get it through. Things are getting hot and I want to get out. But I want to get mine before I do."

The other voice seemed to protest, but Goldy shouted him down. "They'll pay plenty for this stuff, I tell you. Ben took a lot of chances getting these plans for them. They'll pay plenty. And there's only a two way out now." She continued to pour the persuasion on heavily. "We can't wait any longer. The Feds will find out this stuff is missing from the files and the heat will really shiver us."

The other voice continued to protest, but less vigorously now. Liddell couldn't make out the words but the tone of surrender was apparent.

"I know you'd be smart," Goldy exulted. "You set it up for us to get out of here. You can handle the short wave as well as Hunt ever could. We can get this stuff over to them tonight, then hold up until the payoff."

Liddell struggled with his bonds, felt one of the ropes slip, started to work on it in earnest. Here was an angle even the Treasury Department didn't have the sale of military secrets, the existence of an unsuspected short wave contact with a foreign power. The ransom set-up had overflowed into espionage.

Inside the room there were sounds of the two making ready to leave. When footsteps approached where he was sprawled out, he slumped back, feigned unconsciousness.

The closet door opened, a flash of light almost blinded Liddell as it flowed from the room into the closet's dark recesses. He could smell the cheap perfume as Goldy leaned over him, peered at him closely. Then the door swung shut, cutting off the light. But it was not shut closely enough to shut off sound.

"You know the way to the sending station alone, don't you, Ben?" Goldy asked.

Ceria's voice was querulous. "Of course I know where it is. It was my idea to use a boat so's they couldn't trace where it was."

Goldy grunted. "Okay, so you're a Big Brain. So it was your idea to use the Sea Nymph. All I got to say is it's a good idea worked out. You only got one wrong guess." There was the sound of a chair scraping back. "Let's go."

Liddell waited until he heard the sound of a door closing in the outer chamber, then started to work on his bonds. The loop around his right wrist started to slip, made a slack that gave him something to work with.

The perspiration beaded his forehead, rolled down into his eyes, blinded him. He swore under his breath as the rope cut into his flesh, worked all the harder. After what seemed hours, the loop slipped over his wrist, freeing his hand. It was a matter of minutes to free his other hand and his feet.

Cautiously he pushed the door open, found himself in a large, empty room with built-in bunks lining the three walls.

He made his way to a wash basin in the corner, doused cold water into his face, washed away the blood, dried himself with a handkerchief. He pushed his hair back out of his face, flattened it gently with water. After a moment, he looked almost human.

The cold water helped clear his head as well. He looked around for a way out of the room that would not necessitate returning the way he had come. There was a door that led to what looked like a small hall. He walked over, opened the door a crack, listened. There was no sound. He swung the door all the way open, stuck his head through. He found himself at the head of a rickety flight of stairs. The house seemed vacant.

Liddell stepped to the top of the stairs, started down. At the landing he could see the room below. It looked like the lobby of a small hotel of sorts. The room was partitioned off with discolored plywood into an office in which there was a desk, a telephone on the wall, a rack of old-fashioned keys. It was presided over by a thin, undersized Chinese clerk.

Liddell decided to take his chances on making it. With no one in the lobby but the clerk, he estimated his chances as good. He continued down the steps.

When he reached the bottom, the clerk looked up, stared at him impersonally, nodded, went back to his study of the vertical columns of the Chinese newspaper spread out on the desk before him.

Liddell walked past the desk, made the street. Outside, he recognized landmarks identifying the place as blocks from the store where he had first entered the Fan Tan maze. He headed up the street for the Bowery and a telephone.

Gambling Charges Are Dismissed

Hot Springs, March 6 (AP)—Charges against 20 persons arrested in gambling raids here last week have been dismissed by Municipal Judge Lloyd Darnell. Fines were imposed on nine others.

Four of those who escaped charges in Municipal court will face Circuit Court charges of violating state liquor sale regulations. The charges were dismissed by Municipal Judge Darnell after Prosecutor Julian Glover said he would take the cases against C. A. Stewart, Jimmy Phillips, Mrs. Peggie Chapman and C. M. Taylor to the higher court.

Judge Darnell said he would issue an order to Sheriff Will Lowe within three days regarding the public destruction of gaming equipment seized in the raids on the swank Southern Club and the Pines Supper Club.

Officers Deny Whipping Charge

Jackson, Miss. March 5 (AP)—Five Mississippi law officers begin their defense today against charges they handcuffed a Negro to a pine tree and flogged him to obtain a burglary confession.

They are being tried in U.S. District Court on charges of violating the civil rights of Cpl. Murry (Sunshine) Gray, who was flown home from Korea, where he was an 8th Army truck driver, to testify.

The alleged beating occurred in July, 1950, when Gray was a civilian living in Magnolia, a south

Mississippi town of 2,000.

The defendants are former Sheriff Robert E. Lee; former deputies Frank Smith and Andrew Ones; County Patrol Officer Nolen Wall and Constable J.J. Montfort.

The 25-year-old Korean veteran told the all-white jury yesterday that he was taken from a jail cell to a wooded spot near Magnolia.

"They (the officers) handcuffed me around a pine tree and beat me," he said.

They forced him to remove his clothes before they laid on the three foot long, four-inch wide leather strap, Gray testified.

What They're Saying About Campaigns

By The Associated Press

What they're doing and saying in the presidential campaign:

In general:

Democrats and Republicans are stepping up their efforts to win the first lap in the preferential primary sweepstakes. That's next Tuesday's election in New Hampshire.

Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, reported from Concord he found evidence indicating the voters are undecided on whom to choose, in either the Republican or Democratic column.

Democrats:

Scott Lucas of Illinois, former Senate majority leader, opened President Truman's New Hampshire campaign by saying the President is "invaluable to us in this hour of peril" and must be persuaded to run again.

John L. Sullivan, former secretary of the Navy, urged at Durham, N. H., that Truman be given "a vote of confidence" or it "will be the best news the Kremlin has received in a long while."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee launched his windup campaign in New Hampshire with handshaking visits to Newmarket, Dover and Portsmouth.

Oregon Democrats announced that "after conversations with Washington" they had decided not to file Truman as a candidate in the state's May 16 primary. They indicated the name of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois would be filed instead.

Republicans:

Harold E. Stassen, campaigning in New Hampshire, where he concedes he is third choice, said he found the voters somewhat apathetic to his appeals.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts carried Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's New Hampshire campaign to Claremont. He said the general is "the one Republican who appeals particularly to the independent voters of our country and we have to have their votes to win."

Harry Darby, national committeeman for Kansas, said in Phoenix that Eisenhower "will be back in

Fulbright Lists Campaign Cost

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) says the cost of his 1944 campaign for election to his first term did not exceed $74,190.35.

Fulbright's remarks came after Former Gov. Homer M. Adkins of Arkansas, one of Fulbright's four opponents, said at Little Rock yesterday that the cost of the 1944 senatorial race was the highest in the history of Arkansas.

Adkins said he spent $87,000 in his unsuccessful bid for the Senate. He listed the expenses of his opponents Col. T. H. Barton of El Dorado, chairman of the board of the Lion Oil Company, $192,000 and Fulbright "even more."

Fulbright said a special senate committee which investigated expenditures in the campaign was correct "in listing mine at $74,190.35."

"I see no reason for further comment about my expenditures," he said, adding "I know nothing, of course, about expenditures of the other candidates."

The Waalhaven, largest dock basin in the world, is located in Rotterdam, Holland.

this country at the right time" to speak for himself.

Paul G. Hoffman, former economic cooperation administrator, told reporters in Philadelphia he is convinced Eisenhower can win the Republican nomination without returning to the U. S. to campaign.

Across the Atlantic, Eisenhower was asked by a Turkish reporter in Ankara: "When are you returning to the United States?" He replied: "I have no plans to return to the United States."

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, expected to give Eisenhower a nip-and-tuck fight in New Hampshire, is due there tomorrow to open his campaign.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in New York he had asked his Oregon sponsored Fred E. Epton to withdraw his name from that state's primary. Epton said he would consult with other MacArthur sponsors before deciding.

Gov. Earl Warren of California said in Sacramento the "independent oil crowd" is pouring money in his state to oppose his candidacy for the top nomination.

South Korea Getting Hot Politically

By WILLIAM JORDEN

Pusan, Korea, March 5 (AP)—A hot political fight is raging in this embattled Korean republic despite the pressure of a mighty Communist army massed near its northern frontier.

With a presidential election only three months away, antagonism between President Syngman Rhee and the one-hour National Assembly has flared into a running battle.

Political observers here agree almost unanimously that Rhee has little chance for re-election—even if he seeks another four-year term.

The president, although convinced that Korean people will insist that he run, told The Associated Press he had made up his mind "long ago" not to seek another term.

But political intimates of the 70-year-old "father of the Korean Republic" say Rhee could be induced to run if he thought he would be elected easily.

Under the Korean constitution, the president is elected by the national assembly.

In January, Rhee sponsored a proposed amendment for direct election of the president and for a two-hour national assembly.

Rhee argued these would be "more in accordance with democratic principles." Critics said he introduced the measure as a move toward his re-election.

After only two days of debate, the assembly turned down the amendment by a whopping 143-10 vote. The president suggested that the voters should recall the lawmakers. A "recall movement" sprang up.

Two weeks ago, several hundred people gathered at the national assembly carrying placards and shouting for recall. Petitions were drawn up.

The assemblymen pointed out that there is no constitutional provision for recall. They also claimed that the "recall" move had been carefully planned by Rhee supporters.

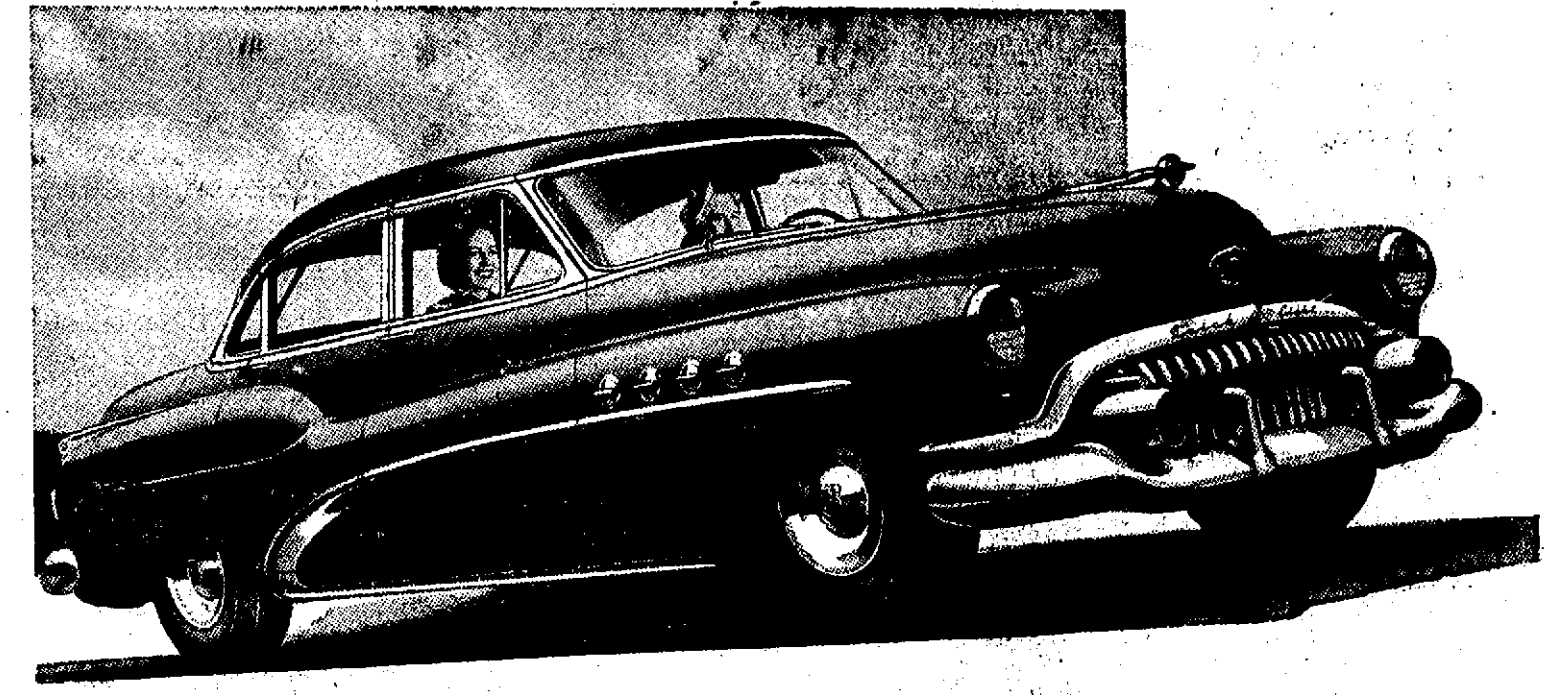

Meanwhile, Rhee said he might reintroduce his proposed amendment after the present legislative session ends March 20.

Most cars lead a double life. A good part of the time, they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions. It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these. But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion maneuvers—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straightaway driving.

And just for good measure, this '52 ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and to top it all, the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER only.

Husband Slayer Now in Dallas

Dallas, Tex. March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons, charged with murder in her husband's death in El Paso, arrived here last night but could not be located this morning.

Timberlawn Sanitarium at the edge of Dallas, which Mrs. Parsons had entered on Feb. 20, said she had not been re-admitted this morning. Officials said they had not been advised when she would be returned for re-admission. She came in aboard a commercial airliner last night.

Her attorney, O.B. Fisher of Paris, Tex., said last night that she would be re-committed to the sanitarium, a mental institution. He had checked out of his hotel this morning.

The 21-year-old blonde from Tulsa, Okla., is charged in the shooting of her husband of six weeks, Lt. Richard O. Parsons, Feb. 18. Her trial has been set for May 12. A sanity hearing will be given her before the trial.

In El Paso, Dist. Atty. W.E. Clayton said he will ask the death penalty for Mrs. Parsons. She is accused of murder with malice.

Conviction carries penalties ranging from a minimum of two years in prison to a life term or the death sentence.

Lawyers for Mrs. Parsons have said she will plead insanity. Clayton said he will contest that defense "right down the line."

Mrs. Parsons is free under $500,000 bond.

54 Injured in Train Crash

Gary, Ind., March 5 (AP)—Fifty-four persons were injured, none seriously, last night when a crowded commuter train from Chicago crashed into the rear end of an empty train in the Gary station.

All the injured were riding in the first car of a four-car Chicago, South Shore and South Bend electric express train. Only six of the injured remained in hospitals.

Police said ice on a switch may have caused the express train, which carried about 200 passengers, to take the wrong siding. The other train had just discharged all passengers.

West in Reprisal, Cuts Off Power

Berlin, March 5 (AP)—West Germany cut off electric power deliveries to the Russian zone today in reprisal for the stoppage of Eastern current to West Berlin.

The two zones had each supplied 384,000 kilowatt hours daily to the other.

The Soviet-controlled East Berlin power company shut off electric deliveries to West Berlin last night, giving "economic difficulties" in the East as the reason.

West Berlin officials said the city could do without the power from the East and that no restrictions on power consumption would be necessary.

Four Dismissed no Gambling Charge

Hot Springs March 5 (AP) Charges against four persons who were among 20 arrested after state police raided two Hot Springs night clubs were dismissed today by Municipal Court Judge Lloyd Darnell.

Prosecuting Attorney Julian Glover requested the action. Glover said he would file charges in Circuit Court against C.A. Stewart, Jimmy Phillips, Mrs. Peggie Chapman and C. M. Taylor, all of Hot Springs.

Phillips, Mrs. Chapman and Taylor were charged with liquor law violations.

Charges of operating a gaming house against Jack McDunkin and Norwood Phillips were reduced to exhibiting a gaming device and each fined $100.

Three others were fined $100. Two others were fined $10 each on charge of gambling.

Similar charges against three others were dismissed.

Hearings for others arrested Thursday night at the Southern club and the Plaza still were in progress.

Some — A force of American soldiers, our own people, arrived at the top of the Adriatic a few days ago to take position in the thin, dotted line which is being arrayed on this side of the Iron Curtain as a blood sacrifice on the altar of the Hyde Park Honkatonk when over Stalin decided to attack. The Communist union which control the port refused to unload our ships. Our men got ashore but, nevertheless, this was a fine demonstration of "labor solidarity" in strict accordance with the totalitarian principles of our national labor relations board, the packed New Deal Supreme Court, the A. F. L. the C.I.O. and F. D. Roosevelt.

There are many strong, clear precedents in the records of union conduct in our own country or this assumption by a union of power to tie up a seaport or the mines or the railroads of a nation.

During the late war, the national maritime union undertook to prevent the delivery of legitimate American commerce to Spain because the Spanish government had kicked the giblets out of the Muscovite army in the Spanish civil war.

Joe Curran, then, as now, president of the N. M. U. wrote me that World War II was an imperial war or the cardinal profit of Britain and France until Hitler hit Russia. In that instant it became a people's war, the official Communist line, and Curran began to abuse our people or our reluctance to throw ourselves onto the Nazi bayonets and sacrifice American lives in place of Russian lives.

A robust burr, himself, Curran was smart enough to get his union to get him a total deferment. He was the boss of the union so this meant that he wrote his own exemption, and some decent citizen, possibly a high-school boy, had to march in his place. Union racketeers, including Communists, were indispensable to the "war effort." They still are.

Last hear some Russian mink and caviar came into our ports and became hot cargo because groups of splendid American patriots refused to touch the dirty stuff. They refused, that is, until, by coincidence, agreement was reached with the boss racketeers whereby the work was done on Sunday at Sunday rates of pay. The invitation to a steamship line or a consignee who has paid dollars or his merchandise in a foreign market to ship a few thousand dollars to some dirty extortioner with an official license from the labor relations board to blackmail lawful commerce needs no emphasis.

This is not an attempt to review the vicious history of the labor monopolies created by F. D. Roosevelt under cover of a national calamity which that ghastly charlatan purposely prolonged to years finally choosing war industry as his solution to unemployment. This is a plain, sincere presentation of the act that the Communist boycotts and strikes against our war preparations in Europe are based on precedents which the criminal forces called unions long ago established in our own country. For years we forced millions of our good workers to submit to exploitation by Communist traitors whose character was well known to most of us but was denied by that pitiful old hypocrite, Philip Murray the president of the CIO, who now

Many a decent newspaperman who quit the rotten newspaper guild as a defiance to "Raymond Brown's sneering band of anti-Americans in the controlling positions was forced to pay a big fine for "reinstatement."

Murray's present program at home has no other purpose than to wrest control of our country from the custody of our elected government and give it over to a lot of dictators and, eventually, to one grand dictator such as his own old boss, John L. Lewis. Murray never was a "leader." He was nothing but a servile, mewling flunkie for a contemptuous boss whom he finally accused of seeking his life. I mean Lewis.

"Labor" has never acknowledged Murray by any electoral process involving the votes of men. Yet this pitiful old parasite has been taken up and endorsed by a group of misguided priests who profess that they are only preaching the spirit of certain encyclicals. But none of these papal writs ever indorsed criminal conduct and the violence against the lawful authority of our government that gave rise to Murray's empire. None of these sophistries ever dares to try to justify the bad conduct of their proteges. They hedge away from that issue and resort to muddifying arguments on the origins of separate elements of socialism and Communism. They are trying to create clerical power over groups of workers of many religions or none at all so as to put them against the Communist dictators. But I will no longer submit to abuse and exploitation by clerics then by heretics, and most intelligent workers think the same.

The special branch of Scotland yard is belatedly investigating a system of small, juglar strikes in the British war industries. These strikes have followed the plan used by unions of Murray's CIO in World War II. The CIO adopted it from the French Communists and owes its existence to that device. Britain has no laws like those which we slowly adopted to harass Communists, but it is something, anyway, when the yard begins to suspect that a Communist might be partial to the enemy.

The union movement is the most dangerous internal menace that ever challenged the rights of our people and the integrity of our government. All over Europe, nations have been awakened, confused and chivvied into class wars and civil wars and finally into fascism and Communism by unions.

Will no American candidate for high public office ever summon the manhood, the knowledge and the leadership to acknowledge this menace and fight not labor but the unions as they exist today?

Books Seized by Red Purgers

Bonn, Germany, March 5 (AP) — East Germany's Communist rulers have seized an estimated six million books in a sweeping purge to root out Western literature, West German officials said today.

They have replaced the banned volumes on the shelves of schools, libraries and book stores chiefly with Communist political literature.

Hempstead County.

2. Establishing or improving permanent pasture by seeding adapted pasture grasses or legumes which includes tall fescue, dallis grass, and annual lespedea.

3. Constructing terraces to control the flow of water on sloping land.

4. Construction or enlargement of drainage ditches on farm land.

5. Construction of stock ponds for stock water.

6. Timber stand improvement of farm woodlands.

8. Application of Potash on soil conserving crops.

9. Application of superphosphate on soil conserving crops.

Purchase orders may be obtained for dallis grass, fescue, limestone superphosphate, potash stock ponds, drainage ditches and terraces.

Prior approval for other seasonal practices will be authorized later. Since no minimum farm limit will be held for producers later than March 31 all farmers are urged to contact the PMA office for their share of assistance as soon as convenient but not later than March 31.

Texas Man Claims 17 Marriages

El Paso, Tex., March 5 (UP) — A graying 72-year-old El Paso plumber who "wanted to set a record" said today he thought he probably had with his 17th marriage — this time to a 47-year-old El Paso woman he has known 22 years.

The plumber, Bruce Steel, said he couldn't help it if he appealed to women.

Steel has 31 children — 24 sons and seven daughters. His new wife, Mrs. Estell Lloyd, has a son of her own.

"That gives us 25 boys," Steel said.

Steel, who owns and operates the Star Plumbing Co. in El Paso, was married the first time in 1911.

"I was a boxer traveling with a show, and I met a girl named Mary," he said. "Yes, Mary was the first. I moved on and she got a divorce. After that I wooed and won other girls, but I had to keep moving, so the marriages didn't last."

"I believe Ruth — she was a platinum blonde — was next. Then there were Catherine and Rose and Peggy — she was the chorus girl."

Steel's 17 marriages compare with the martial history of Mrs. Betty Calamusa, 39-year-old Houston, Tex., woman who is believed to have set another kind of record. She divorced her 12th husband last Saturday.

Robinsons Come to Understanding

San Francisco March 5 (AP) — These harsh words with which actor Edward G. Robinson banished his 14-year-old son Eddie Jr. when he eloped with actress Frances Chisholm two weeks ago have been reconsidered.

Father Robinson said last night that young Robinson had spent last week end with his parents and "the boy and I have our own understanding. I hope it works out all right."

Egypt May Bring 130 to Trial

Cairo, Egypt March 5 (AP) — Informal sources said last night 130 persons will go on trial a week from today in connection with Cairo's anti-British torch riots of Jan. 28.

Sixty-seven persons were killed in the riots.

Pinay to Try to Form New Cabinet

Paris, March 5 (AP)—Right-winger Antoinette Pinay formally agreed today to try to form a new French Cabinet and said he would ask the national assembly to confirm him as premier tomorrow morning.

Pinay, 60-year old leather manufacturer and transport minister in the cabinet which resigned last Friday, is expected to ask for a vote against tax evaders as a solution to the government's grave financial crisis.

Only if this fails, it was reported, would he seek tax increases to meet government costs swollen by a proposed 1,400-billion-franc about four billion dollars defense budget.

The assembly last week rejected a proposed 15 per cent tax increase, causing the resignation of Premier Edgar Faure.

Pinay is listed as an independent in politics. The group of independents, which also includes ex-premier Paul Reynaud, promised him its support yesterday. That gave him a start of 102 votes on the 312 he needs for confirmation.

Forest fires will cost the people of Hempstead County thousands of dollars during the next few months unless action is taken now. Hempstead County cannot afford the luxury of having merchantable timber, acres of seedlings and valuable humus burned.

According to County Agent Oliver L. Adams, such fires do kill a few insects and may have some value—but when one considers both good and bad, wild woods fires do not pay. It has been definitely proved that woods burning is wasted effort in the control of insects such as boll weevils and ticks.

Due to a favorable growing season, there is an abundance of inflammable material on most farms, including a heavy stand of sedge grass. Because of this hazardous condition, everyone is asked to work together to keep Hempstead County under a "blanket of green."

The County Agent suggests that everyone remember that:

1. Burning kills nature's crop of seedlings and young trees needed to establish another forest.

2. Severe fires will kill some of the larger trees, weaken and slow the growth of others, and cause tree injuries by burning the bark and scorching the tops.

3. Fire damage encourages bark beetles and rot-producing diseases.

4. Fire injures may lower the

Duke of Windsor Returns to U. S.

New York, March 5 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor returned early today from England and the funeral of his brother King George VI. His duchess, who had remained in New York, greeted him on board the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth when it docked.

They left the vessel quickly, posed for photographers and departed for their apartment in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Said the duke:

"I have no statement at all to make."

French Beat Off Chinese Attack

Salon, Indochina, March 5 (AP)—French and Vietnamese troops do today a fortified post at Tan Phu, 18 miles north of Saigon, reported tonight they had beaten off a Communist led Vietnam attack in bitter hand to hand fighting.

About 200 Vietnamese soldiers stormed the four cornered bamboo and brick constructed stockade-like defense position after heavy mortar fire.

They blew up one corner of the post. Then scaling the towers with ladders, they fought their way into the French and Vietnamese main defense works.

French mobile units rushed and to the hard-pressed defenders and finally succeeded in driving out the Vietnamese. The 80-man garrison lost nine killed and 15 wounded.

Vietminh losses were not immediately disclosed.

Regular Vietminh troops now appear to be reaching areas north of Saigon in increasing numbers after losing a series of tussles with French Union forces south and southeast of Saigon in recent weeks.

sale value of trees one-half to two-thirds.

5. Fires frequently destroy valuable woods products already cut, such as fuel, wood, logs, and lumber. Fire-scarred pulpwood is rejected by the buyers because such burned wood cannot be bleached successfully.

6. Fire damages the top soil when humus is turned to ashes. Erosion following the fire damages the stream and rivers.

Remember, most fires are caused by the carelessness of man—and can therefore be prevented.
